

ASL Translator

Our program takes input from the users camera to read ASL signs. It then displays and speaks the letter to the corresponding sign. Currently the program only reads A, B, and C signs.

Using Amazon SageMaker and a data set of hand signs, the program compares the camera feed to images from the given database. The letter is displayed using Turtle Graphics and spoken using Amazon Polly.

